

CIVIL WAR NEW THREAT TO CUBAN GOVERNMENT

ALLEGED SPLIT OF MOOSE' BALL FUNDS IS SHOWN

Government Charges U. S. Sen. James Davis Was Recipient

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Introduction of large charts to illustrate the destination of charity money taken in by the Loyal Order of Moose in 1930 and 1931 brought vociferous objections today from the attorneys defending United States Senator James J. Davis in federal lottery charges.

Judge Johnson Hayes ruled the charts proper and Louis Mead Treadwell, youthful prosecutor, was permitted to hold them aloft before the jury as he continued his opening statement accusing Davis and his co-defendant, Theodore G. Miller, of causing lottery tickets to be sent across state lines.

The first chart was headed "disbursement of 1930 receipts, Loyal Order of Moose lottery."

Alleged 3-Way Split
It was designed to show that Davis and Miller received $150,000 from the total profits of $450,000. A like amount went to Mooseheart, the Moose Children's Home at Mooseheart, Illinois, and the remainder to B. C. McGuire, a professional promoter who has pleaded guilty.

The second chart, similarly headed, of 1931, listed profits of $300,000, of which $100,000 was listed as going to Davis and Miller, $100,000 to McGuire.

"There is no change of crime in the case," said McGuire, "but the receipt of profits," Treadwell said, "but they show that Davis knew what was going on, knew that lotteries were being conducted."

Treadwell was not allowed to display a third chart which detailed gross receipts of $3,224,493.44 from the two alleged lotteries, net profits of $75,000 of which $250,000 went to Mooseheart, $250,000 to McGuire and $250,000 allegedly to Davis and Miller.

Defense Denies Lottery
The total profit for Davis, according to the government convention, amounted to $155,300. Only $15,300 was listed as going to Davis' personal account, but the government claims that $340,000 paid to the Moose Organization Department was paid, in fact, to Davis since he was alleged to be sole owner of the department.

The total paid to Miller, Treadwell claimed, was $76,849.71.

Charles H. Tuttle opened for the defense. "Every time Treadwell speaks of this thing," he told the jury, "he is going to call it 'lottery.' That is his privilege. We deny it was a lottery."

"In the first place," he continued, "we claim that Senator Davis knew nothing about the Moose charity balls and that he never consciously got a cent out of them."

Roosevelt Stayed In Mansion Today

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—President Roosevelt remained away from his desk again today under doctor's orders because of continuation of a slight temperature.

A cold which kept him at home yesterday has cleared up but with a fraction of a temperature showing, Lieutenant Commander Ross T. McIntire, Naval physician, thought it best for the President to take it easy.

Engagements were cancelled but Roosevelt spent part of the day dictating letters.

Hoover Refuses To Talk About National Issues

Omaha, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Delayed five hours last night by a freight train wreck near Gibbon, Neb., former President Herbert Hoover and Mrs. Hoover were speeding across Iowa today, enroute to Chicago and a visit to A Century of Progress.

The former Chief Executive was sitting in his shirt-sleeves, playing solitaire and losing—when L. P. Osborne of Gibbon, a newspaper correspondent, boarded his train during his delay. Osborne sought an interview but before long discovered he was the one being quizzed.

Hoover wanted to know all about the Nebraska farm situation. Are the farmers taking advantage of feeder and barn-yard and Federal farm loan?

He listened quietly, frequently interrupting with new questions as Osborne told what he could of farm conditions.

"What do you think of the NRA?" Osborne asked. "Why did you refuse to testify during the recent Detroit bank hearing? Is it true that while you were President, you were 'at heart' a wet?"

"I'm sorry, but I'm not discussing any national issues," was the smiling Hoover answer to all questions.

Tickets are now being sold by members of the Knights of Columbus. Reserve seats go on sale at the box office Saturday.

East River Street Isn't Included In Lighting Proposal

The board of local improvements of the city council voted unanimously last evening to eliminate the proposed installation of ornamental street lights on East River street from Galena avenue to Ottawa avenue.

The action followed a protest by R. C. Borey, who told the council that there was not sufficient space between the switch track and the property line on the south side of River street for the installation of the proposed light standards. There was no other objection to the ordinance, which provides for an extension of the original system to include Ottawa avenue from E. River to E. Second streets and E. First street from Ottawa to Crawford avenues.

The reading of the semi-monthly bills was the only activity to come before the council session and the meeting was one of the shortest of the past several months.

Increase In Price Of Soft Coal Assured Under NRA Code; Head Of NRA Will Stand For Boost Of $2

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Now that the code to govern future operations of the soft coal industry has been promulgated to take effect October 2, coal operators and NRA officials expect an increase in the retail price of bituminous coal after that date.

The National Coal Association said today higher prices were inevitable because shorter hours and higher wages called for under the code would bring increased costs of production.

Officials of the association also pointed to the code's provision prohibiting selling below the cost of production as a factor in the impending increase.

Hugh S. Johnson, Industrial Recovery Administrator, during negotiations of the code, declared it would be reasonable to lift the retail price of coal back to the level of three or four years ago.

"In fact," he said, "I'd stand for its going up as much as $2 a ton, though I do not expect that it will."

FIERY WORDS IN OPENING TRIAL OF KIDNAP GANG

Government Outlines Its Case Against Harvey Bailey, Et Al

Oklahoma City, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Fiery words poured from the lips of Herbert K. Hyde, youthful United States District Attorney, as he detailed today the government's version of how Charles F. Urschel, oil millionaire, was kidnaped and held nine days until ransomed for $200,000.

"This scene begins in Oklahoma City," Hyde began his opening statement to the jury in the trial of Harvey Bailey, Albert Bates and ten other defendants charged with the abduction under the new kidnapping law which provides a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

"It's going to be closed in this courtroom," Ben H. Laska of Denver, attorney for Bates, alleged to be one of the two machine gunmen who seized Urschel from a bridge game at his big brick home here the night of July 22, rose to his feet with an objection.

"This is argumentative," Judge Edgar S. Vaughn told Hyde.

Society At Trial
As court opened no seats were empty, and the spectators chiefly were gathered from the upper level of Oklahoma society.

Bailey, called the "brains" of the kidnap gang, sat quietly beside his attorney, as did Bates, the alleged "strongarm" man of the ring.

R. G. and Mrs. Shannon and their son, Armon, shifted slightly in their seats.

Occasionally as Hyde spoke harshly of the kidnapers Mrs. Urschel, dressed modestly in dark blue near the rail dividing the courtroom, nodded vigorously.

The prosecutor said it would be shown that Bates and George (Machine Gun) Kelly, who with his wife, Kathryn, is a fugitive, abducted the oil man at the point of machine guns and took him in an automobile to the Shannon farm near Paradise, Tex., where he was held until the ransom was paid.

Predicted Kidnaping
Hyde said it would be proved also that Bates, Kelly and Mrs. Kelly were at a farm near Stratford, Okla., for several days before the kidnaping and that Kelly told one of two boys visiting the farm.

"There's going to be a kidnaping in Oklahoma City," "We will show further," Hyde declared, "that Kathryn Kelly said also, 'we're going to be in the big money before long.'"

Several hours after Urschel's arrival at the hiding place, Hyde said, the oil man was given a cup of hot coffee made by Mrs. Shannon; that he was fed sparingly for the first few days and his abductors read reports of his kidnaping to him from newspaper head lines.

Offered $10,000 To Watch
The prosecutor said the government will present a written statement by Armon Shannon telling how the kidnapers offered him $10,000 to watch over Urschel at his home after the victim had been removed from the home of R. G. Shannon on the same farm.

Urschel was blindfolded, chained and handcuffed in the back seat of the kidnapers' car on the trip to Texas, Hyde said.

J. B. Dudley, representing the seven defendants from St. Paul and Minneapolis, alleged to have received part of the ransom money, interposed no comment during Hyde's statement, except once when the prosecutor gave wrong figures through a slip of the tongue.

The defense waived its four opening statements until the government rests.

Urge Depositors In City Nat'l. To Aid In Reopening

Louis Pitcher, chairman of the committee of Dixon business men who are conducting the campaign to secure waivers and stock subscriptions to make possible the reorganization and reopening of the City National Bank, report very satisfactory progress. They urge all depositors in the bank to come to the bank at their earliest convenience so that the plan of reopening may be fully explained to them. All depositors, regardless of the size of their deposit, are asked to cooperate by signing the waivers, so that the balance of the deposits may be released.

Illinois Is Best State For Wedding, Hitch-Hikers Find

Mt. Carmel, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—It is cheaper to get married in Illinois than many other states, K. K. Roberts, 31, of East St. Louis and Dorothy Smith, 20, of Oxford, Ohio, find.

The couple, who were married here by Rev. George R. Goodman, have been tramping the highways together.

Some time ago they came to the decision to continue their travels as man and wife. Their purse was lean.

In Arkansas where they first applied for a license the fee was $3. They could not reach it. In Kentucky, $5 was worse.

Mr. Knick stated that he drove by the scene of the crash, stopped his car and returned to ascertain if any of the occupants was injured, but that his car had no part in the collision.

PEDALED TO FAIR
Orville Hawver and Richard Harder of Pike's Peak, Colo. devised a novel trip to Chicago to attend the Century of Progress. They rigged up an old "bicycle built for two" and made the trip to the exposition city. Last evening they spent the night in Dixon en route home. They pedaled from Chicago to Dixon yesterday, a distance of more than a hundred miles. About four miles east of Dixon, one of their tires blew out and they walked into the city with their cycle. After making the necessary repairs, they rested for the night and departed early this morning, continuing their westward cycling trip.

WIFE OF PEORIA BANKER FOILED FIVE KIDNAPERS
Rushed To The Upper Floor Of Home And Called Police

Peoria, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Milton C. Newman, president of the Jefferson Trust & Savings Bank and head of the Peoria Park Board, was safe at his home today after reporting to police an attempt to kidnap him by five men.

He laid frustration of the plot to quick thinking on the part of his wife last night when, confronted by the gunmen who invaded the residence when Newman responded to a call at the front door, she ran to the second floor and had her sister, Mrs. Rosa Kahn, telephone police. The men fled before police arrived.

Newman described the alleged kidnapers as being young and well dressed. Upon answering the front door bell early in the evening he said he was confronted by a man who had concealed a revolver in his hat he was holding in his hand. As the man forced Newman back into a house the other four stepped out of the shadows and followed.

The first gunman told Newman to "keep quiet, this is a kidnaping" and virtually the same was repeated to Mrs. Newman when she appeared on the stairway from the second floor where she had been with Mrs. Kahn.

Newman told police he had received no threatening letters.

COAL OPERATORS DIFFER
Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Coal operators today proceeded with their negotiations on the basic daily rates for the Alabama and western Kentucky coal fields, not yet included in the bituminous operations, expressing vigorous opposition to a big differential between their rates and the Alabama rates, holding that they were in danger of losing Memphis and Chattanooga markets.

NRA officials today were negotiating with Alabama operators over establishment of a basic wage rate for their territory, but were meeting difficulties because of a demand from Tennessee mine owners that the differential in favor of Alabama be kept within 40 cents.

The Tennessee rate is 4.20 an hour while the Alabama rate insisted that $3 was the maximum they could afford.

Pending adjustment of this point, there was no move from the Alabama side, one of the few groups which have failed so far to sign the code, to come forward voluntarily.

The west Kentucky situation in which operators not only have not signed but have announced an intention of not dealing with the United Mine Workers, regardless of the code declaration that employees may bargain through whatever representatives they choose, was in the hands of Administrator Hugh S. Johnson.

Officials refused to comment upon the case beyond the statement already made that the code was applicable.

Statements Made By Six Alleged Luer Kidnapers Admitted Into Evidence

FEDERAL LABOR BOARD APPEALS TO STRIKING MEN
Industrial Picture Is Still Speckled By Many Idle Workers

(By The Associated Press.)
Strikes still speckled the industrial picture today. Among them were:

Brockton, Mass.—shoe workers.
Pennsylvania—coal miners and truckmen.
New Jersey—silk workers.
Long Branch, Ont.—relief workers.

New York—underwear, doll and millinery workers.
Jersey City—can company employees.
Brooklyn—cleaners and dyers.
Cape Cod, Mass.—cranberry pickers.

Senator Robert F. Wagner, head of the National Labor Board, urged both sides to avoid disputes as much as possible and seek peaceful settlement before the board. In a statement published today he urged "patience, sincerity and efforts to make mutual concessions."

Watch Mine Situation
Now that the coal code bears President Roosevelt's signature, the question remained as to what the 30,000 striking coal miners in Pennsylvania would do. Some strike leaders expressed belief the government "will see the code put into operation fairly." Others reserved comment.

There was no authoritative announcement as to when the miners will resume work. Also there was no definite statement as to what the H. C. Frick Coke Company, long time opponent of unionism, will do about union recognition.

Iowa miners striking like the Pennsylvania men in protest at delay in winding up a bituminous code, ended their walkout yesterday.

Buckshot wounded a spectator when pickets and working miners clashed in North Scranton, Pa.

Teamsters Threaten
A strike of 5,000 teamsters, which would hamper flour, grocery and furniture delivery, was threatened in New York unless employers shortened hours. Truck operators in southeastern Pennsylvania refused to accede to demands of strikers for shorter hours, 1929 pay and union recognition. The dispute brought truck service to a virtual standstill in some parts of the area.

Talk of a cotton growers strike "if we cannot get relief otherwise" was heard in Washington at a meeting of cotton men and members of Congress.

75 per cent of the shoe workers in Brockton, Mass., stayed away from the job yesterday. New Jersey silk mills remained closed, but some in Pennsylvania opened. Pickets patrolled outside a rolling bearing factory in Detroit, protesting what they called discrimination against the union.

Eight hundred striking relief workers went to bed supperless last night in a federal camp at Long Branch, Ontario. Protesting the pay of 20 cents a day and keep, they rejected an ultimatum to work or leave the camp. The authorities there issued no more meals and mounted police were put on guard against disorder.

Attorney Surprised
George J. Gross, a Department of Justice agent was quoted by Fitzgerald as saying "if you make a statement it will be just like having the government work for you."

"Agent Maher" continued Fitzgerald, "said it would mean a lot to me to make a statement and Murphy told me I had better get on the ground floor, that I was a fool to carry the whole load and that he would do all he could for me. He said I'd better tell everything and maybe I'd get off easy."

"And you relied on these promises?" asked Fitzgerald's attorney. "No," replied the witness, apparently to the surprise of his lawyer, "but I did believe in them."

Sheriff Peter Fitzgerald of Madison county testified Norvell asked to be allowed to make a statement and that he summoned federal agents.

Another agent testified to obtaining a statement from Gitchco, in the presence of Norvell. Gitchco was quoted as saying Norvell asked him to allow the kidnapers to use a cellar in a fire-ridden building in Madison, Ill., as a prison for a kidnap victim. Gitchco reportedly said he consented.

Defense counsel late yesterday dropped objections to admissibility of statements made by Musiala and Norvell.

Mattoon Girl, 19, Held For Murder

Charleston, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A coroner's jury today recommended that Hazel Skort, 19, be held to the Coles county grand jury on murder charges for the fatal shooting of her companion, Oscar Hickey, at a resort early Saturday.

Two material witnesses were released.

Ogle County Man Killed By Deputy Sheriff Of DeKalb County During Gun Battle; An Alleged Robber

Edmond, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—A gun duel in the darkness of a store early today resulted in the death of a would-be burglar identified as George Ashford of Byron, Ill.

He was shot by Lowell Dummer, 23, Deputy Sheriff employed by R. J. Eychaner to guard his store, which had been looted several times during the past year.

Shortly after the battle, Ashford's body, a bullet wound near the heart, was found lying on the railroad tracks. A posse found his wife and daughter in an automobile parked near the edge of the town. Mrs. Ashford was taken to Sycamore for questioning.

Dummer, who was not struck in the exchange of shots, said he found Ashford leaving the store with several sacks of merchandise.

Watch Success Of Fever-Maker In Sleep Illness

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Whether Patricia Maguire, 29, can be aroused from the long sleep she fell into on February 15, 1932, by the use of artificial fever, induced by a "fever machine" was the question that confronted specialists today.

They planned to use the machine despite a statement from the American Medical Association that the proposed cure had not proved successful in similar cases of "sleeping sickness."

TO WATCH PATIENTS
St. Louis, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Recovered "sleeping sickness" patients will remain under the watchful eye of public health officials for about two years to determine whether delayed effects of the illness manifest themselves, it was announced today.

So far, health officials and physicians attending cases of encephalitis, have found virtually no unfavorable after effects, but the two-year period of observation was decided upon in the hope of gaining more substantial knowledge of the strange malady.

With the death toll standing at 157 in greater St. Louis since mid-July, the epidemic continued today to show definite signs of abatement.

Decatur Party In Mishap Near Amboy

Mr. and Mrs. William Fields and Mr. and Mrs. William Tomlinson of Decatur sustained painful cuts and bruises yesterday afternoon in an automobile accident, which took place on state highway, route 2, about three miles north of Amboy when a tire on the car in which they were riding blew out and the machine was travelling at a high rate of speed, throwing it over into the ditch. The ladies were taken to the Katherine Shaw Bethe hospital, where their injuries were dressed and they were released this morning. The men were taken to a physician's office at Amboy where they were treated. The car was practically demolished and was hauled to an Amboy garage.

'CUBAN SANDINO' TAKES UP ARMS; STARTS MOVING

Trainment Of Government Forces Sent To Engage Him

Havana, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Confronted by incipient civil war, the new Cuban government today dispatched a trainload of troops and students to Camaguey province, where Captain Juan Blas Hernandez, known as the "Cuban Sandino," has taken to the field.

Captain Blas conducted a long guerrilla warfare against deceased President Gerardo Machado. Recently he spent several weeks in Havana conferring with General Carlos Mendieta, one of the principal leaders of the opposition to the present government.

The insurgent captain, who got his nickname because of the similarity of his anti-Machado campaign to that waged for years by General Augusto Sandino in Nicaragua, left for the interior yesterday and immediately took up arms.

Leads Armed Band
From unimpeachable sources it was learned that Captain Hernandez left Moron in Camaguey province with a heavily armed band and was enroute to Santa Clara, in the direction of Havana.

He left with the full authority of the local military commander, reports from Moron said, to resume the two-year revolt he ended when Carlos Manuel de Cespedes succeeded Machado.

There were mutterings in oppositionists' camps of revolution as Provisional President Grau San Martin persisted in his refusal to accede to demands of five powerful political groups that he make way for a "national" government.

"I will quit," he countered, "when anybody who has a right to ask me to resign does so."

Reply To Rotarians
He made the statement at the conclusion of a meeting with a committee of Rotarians who, as mediators, gave him separate memoranda from the OCRM and ABS political societies, Col. Carlos Mendieta's nationalists, former President Menocal's group, and the Marianistas of Miguel Mariano Gomez.

"It doesn't matter who is President," Dr. Grau San Martin asserted, "so long as the revolutionary program is carried out."

A leader of the student pro-government faction interrupted him to say that "Grau San Martin can not resign unless we (the student directorate) who put him in the presidency ask him to."

Plan For Election
The executive refused this time to treat directly with the oppositionists, but their demands were presented by the mediators. The five organizations, with whom he has repeatedly conferred, met without the President and drew up their demands, each of which was understood to contain a demand for his resignation and the appointment of a coalition cabinet. Several opponents said his refusal might result in another revolution.

The government, meanwhile, proceeded with its plans. It set May 20, 1934, for a constitutional convention, whose delegates will be elected April 1, 1934.

Engraving on Copper

Engraving is generally done on a thin, flat copper plate, with a small pointed tool known as a burin, or graver, which makes a V-shaped cut. The engraver works by pushing the burin, holding it almost flat against the plate. The very nature of the process makes the line more methodical, less sketchy than an etched line. The process came into use early in the fifteenth century, and was practiced most in Germany, Italy and the Netherlands. Martin Schongauer was the first big name. After him came Albrecht Durer, head of the prolific sixteenth century German school. Among the early Italians were Mantegna, Marco Antonio and Campagnolo. The English and French engravers offer the best opportunities for them. Among the more prominent Englishmen were William Sharp and Robert Strange. The Frenchmen, who engaged in perpetuating on copper plate the work of Watteau, Chardin and Lancelotti, were Cochin, Audran, Tardieu, Gravelot and Moreau.

Where Coconut Is King

To the average American, a coconut is only a coconut, providing an occasional delicacy, to be eaten either raw or in a cake, pie or candy, but there are parts of the world where the coconut tree is the producer of almost all the necessities of life, says Field Museum News. Staple food, drinks, utensils, clothing and shelter are garnered from the unprepossessing fruit of the South seas, and the islanders of those regions are perfectly happy with a menu of coconut, coconut and coconut, three times daily. Children of the tropics eat a strange candy made from part of the sprouted coconut which bulges into the center of the fruit and absorbs the meat and milk. This is a tender tidbit. Aside from its local uses in the tropics, the coconut is of great importance in the world's commerce as a source of copra, the dried coconut meat from which coconut oil is obtained for edible fat, and for use in soap making.

An Initial Success

Minster abbey is reputed to be England's oldest house. According to tradition, the picturesque dwelling, which is located on the Isle of Thanet, near Margate, in the south-east corner of England, dates back to King Egbert of Kent, who lived in the early part of the Ninth century. Egbert granted half the Isle of Thanet to his niece, Domneva, and she erected Minster abbey as a nunnery. Later it became the property of the monks of St. Augustine's, Canterbury, remaining in their hands for five centuries, or until the dissolution of the monasteries. James I sold the abbey and it has since been used as a private residence.

Matchmaker Ed Hooker today announced a championship bout to be featured Thursday evening at the Maples arena in which two strong contestants will decide the lightweight title of Illinois. Aaron Wade of Peoria, present claimant to the title and recognized as the outstanding lightweight in the state, will meet Geno Salvatore of LaSalle who is out to capture the disputed laurels.

On account of the postponement of last week's card when weather interfered, it was necessary to change the principal bout and this has resulted in the booking of the championship match. Boxing fans of Dixon and vicinity will have an opportunity of witnessing the title bout as a feature of Thursday night's card and blocks of seats have been taken by friends of both Salvatore and Wade who will come to Dixon to witness the program. The remaining bouts will be announced by Matchmaker Hooker tomorrow.

Bracken Spoke To
Kiwanians Today

Attorney Robert L. Bracken gave a very interesting talk before the Dixon Kiwanis club this afternoon in the first meeting of the fall-winter season at the Nachusa Tavern. "What Makes a Statesman?" was the subject of the talk and in the course of his remarks, the speaker stated that, in his opinion, the Ten Commandments contained the solution of the world's ills. Later in his remarks, Attorney Bracken referred to the present restricted agricultural plan and stated that in his opinion, the efforts of any statesman or politician or group of them to attempt to control the things that were grown by the sun and the rain would not be successful. At the conclusion of his talk, the speaker replied to many questions which were asked by the Kiwanians, who always welcome his interesting messages.

The pace is a swaying gait characterized by the throwing of the weight of the body from the legs on one side to those on the other.

Exhibit of Miss Wingert's Work In The Near Future

In the near future, probably the first week in October, Miss Constance Wingert, daughter of Atty.
and Mrs. E. E. Wingert will give an exhibit in art at the Geisenfamous artists, specialized in portraiture with Gordon Stevenson as her instructor. She studied also with Franklin Booth, noted artist, at the Institute.

Miss Wingert who has done many lovely things, will have an exhibit of portraits, a few of still life, and maybe, landscapes. The many friends of this talented and charming girl will await with eagerness the display of her work, in this city.

Miss Arlisle Miller to Wed Dr. J. C. Gray

A paper printed in Sheboygan, Wis., bears news of the engagement of Miss Arlisle Miller to Dr. James Clarke Gray of Cleveland, O. The announcement is of interest here due to the fact that Miss Miller is the niece of Mr. and Mrs. A. A.
Rowland, and that she has visited in Dixon often at the Rowland home and has many friends here.

The article reads:

An important engagement and news of numerous pre-nuptial parties of September brides are the main items of social interest today.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Miller, 2109
N. Seventh street, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Arlisle Eugene, to Dr. James
Clarke Gray of Cleveland, Ohio. No definite date has been set for the wedding, but it will probably take place this winter.

Both Miss Miller and Dr. Gray are at Cleveland. Miss Miller has been administrative dietitian at the University hospital for the past two years, and Dr. Gray is a member of the faculty of Adelbert College,
Western Reserve University.

Miss Miller is a prominent member of Sheboygan's social circles.
She was one of the organizers and a charter member of the Service club and was also active in golfing.
For a time she was a member of the First Congregational church choir.

Following her graduation from Sheboygan high school, Miss Miller received her bachelor of science degree at Beloit college.
She is a member of Delta, Delta,
Delta sorority.

Dr. Gray is a graduate of Syracuse University and received his
Ph. D. degree from the University

A Distinguished Visitor To Be At Reunion

Professor Neighbour of the local committee, has word that among those attending the Dixon College reunion of Saturday, the 23rd, will be Mrs. Della Crowder Miller, widely known dramatic reader and interpreter.

Mrs. Miller, sister, by the way, of General Enoch Crowder, deceased, conspicuous organizer of the American forces for the World War, was a Dixon student in the latter '90s.

As an entertainer, her large repertoire includes Lew Wallace's
"Ben Hur, a Tale of the Christ";
"Ruth," Mrs. Miller's dramatization from the Bible story; "James Whitcomb Riley and the Hoosiers," and a host of other fine readings.

It is hoped that Mrs. Miller may favor the reunion with some of her charming and masterly delinea-tions, particularly at the banquet at the Masonic Temple, in the evening.

THE PRICE OF A HAPPY MARRIAGE.

Those unsavory court proceedings at Los Angeles, where the law tried to find out whether a former movie star did or did not swipe a young woman's husband, are just about entitled to rank as the most depressing news of the year.

That's not so much because the details were unusually salacious. They weren't; they were probably milder than is usual in a case of this kind. It's just that the whole business displayed such a lamentable misconception of the marriage relationship, such a complete failure to comprehend the philosophy that must underlie any successful marriage.

People have been handing down advice on marriage for a good many centuries, now, and the thing has been discussed more freely and frequently in the last few years than ever before. But still the world seems to be full of people who just don't get the idea.

It happens over and over. A man and a woman fall in love, get married, and wait for life to bring them a placid happy-ever-after continuity. Then, pretty soon, he starts flitting about with some other woman, or she begins to tag around with some other man, and the fat is in the fire. There are tears, accusations, angry scenes—and pretty soon the divorce courts have another job, not infrequently of the sort that has to be handled with pitchforks.

Most of this, probably, could be avoided if young husbands and wives could only realize that there isn't any easy recipe for the happy-ever-after business. Marriages aren't made that way. They are built up on disillusionment, disappointment and sorrow, as often as not, and you have to work with all your soul for the rewards that a successful marriage offers.

There are bound to be times when a wife feels her husband is a stupid, obtuse and thoughtless brute; there are bound to be times when a husband feels that his wife is flighty and unreasonable. But what of it? Human nature is imperfect, and it probably always will be. The price of a successful marriage is forbearance and forgiveness and a determination to make a go of it.

But so many people won't realize that. They expect marriage to be one long idyll. It isn't; it never has been and it never will be; but when they find that out they cry to heaven that they have been shamefully used, instead of gritting their teeth and pitching in to make a success of it anyway.

FREE BALLOONING.

The airplane pilot may have a job that brings a lot of thrills and excitement, but it sometimes looks as if the fellow who flies a free balloon is even more likely to lead an adventurous life.

The experiences of two teams in the recent James Gordon Bennett race seem to bear that out pretty thoroughly.

The Polish balloon came down far up in the Canadian wilderness, and for days it was believed that its two occupants had perished. At last they showed up, alive and well—and then all hands turned to look for the other lost balloon which, it was feared, had drifted out over the open sea.

That balloon likewise turned up a few days later, and its flyers were found in an Ontario forest, bruised, half starved, sick and exhausted.

The experiences of these two teams seem to indicate that balloon racing is now about as purposeless and dumb a sport as modern life affords.

THE AMERICAN HABIT.

One of the queer things about American politics, when you stop to think about it, is the habit we seem to have developed in the last few years of making up our minds on things all in a bunch.

The current vote on prohibition repeal is an example.

Prohibition was voted into the Constitution without a hitch. If the action of the state legislatures can be taken as a gauge—and it is hard to see why it can't acceptance of the need for prohibition was pretty general from coast to coast. And now prohibition is going out in the same way. Wet states like New York, dry ones like Maine, Iowa and Arkansas—they're all going the same way.

It has been the same way in presidential elections. Not since 1916 has there been a close one. The rest have all been landslides.

Evidently, when we make up our minds on something, we make them up almost unanimously.

CHANCELLOR OF AUSTRIA MUST MAKE UP MIND

Vice Chancellor Is Author Of Demand For Some Action

Vienna, Sept. 18.—(AP)—Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss, had a notice from his Vice Chancellor, Franz Winkler, today to "make up your mind" in the Austrian political situation because "nothing is worse than uncertainty and dissension."

The uncertainty arose from a three-sided controversy involving Dollfuss' battles against Hitlerism and Marxism, Winkler's opposition to the Heimwehr (home guard), Socialists, and the outlawed Nazis, and the Heimwehr's fight with Winkler, Socialists, and Nazis.

Some of the dissension comes from the Nazis who turned a Winkler mass meeting in Graz into disorder by throwing smoke bombs and singing the German national anthem. Echoes were heard all throughout the country.

Winkler denounced the Austrian Nazis and the Fascist Heimwehr wing of the Dollfuss cabinet by saying: "We are not going to fight the Nazis merely to help Austro-Fascism into the saddle."

At Kufstein, on the Austro-German border, two home guard leaders, Richard Steidle and Prince Starheimberg retorted.

Steidle warned the Chancellor that Liberalism, Marxism, and corruption must not be allowed to enter through the back door under the banner of Winkler's corporate front movement.

The Prince praised Dollfuss for proclaiming the day of liberalism and materialism over, and asserted:

"I add to that that the time of corruption and democracy is over, too. It is not sufficient to declare this, however. It is necessary to

The little kittens seemed to know that they had put on quite a show. They started in meowing and the parrot shouted, "Hey! 'Another pan of milk is in store and that is what they are meowing for. Somebody get it from the tree and bring it up this way.'"

"I will," yelled wee Scouty. Off he ran, to shortly come back with the pan. Once more the little kittens drank till they had had their fill.

"Now, do a dance!" the parrot cried. "Just do a sway dance, side by side, you had best cling to each other so you will not take a spill."

The kittens danced a little while and then wee Doty, with a smile, cried, "Oh, they are getting very tired. I guess their strength is spent."

Then to the kittens wee Scouty said, "All right, now you can go to bed." And right into their basket all the clever kittens went.

"What next?" cried wee Duncy. "Are there more fine pets to dance and make us roar?" "Just wait," exclaimed the parrot, "I'll call old quack duck out."

"She will entertain you all, I hope, by hanging to a swinging rope. I'll let you Tiniest hold the rope and swing the duck about."

In just a minute they all heard, "Quack, quack!" Out came a very funny bird. "My, what a duck," said wee Goldy. "See the hat upon her head!"

"Come on, now," said the parrot. "Do a clever little trick or two. As soon as you have entertained us all, you will be fed."

The rope was then stretched good and tight. The duck flapped up with all her might and landed safe and sound. Then Coppy cried, "All right, let's go!"

"We are going to swing you away up high. Much higher than you will ever fly."

It was a sight to see the big duck swinging to and fro.

(The Tiniest meet a cub bear in the next story.)

Daily Health Talk

GROWTH AND HIBERNATION

If, during the winter, spring and early summer, your child fails to gain in weight as rapidly as he did during the late summer and autumn, there is no occasion for undue alarm.

Assuming that the child is well, he merely is following a trend in seasonal growth which appears to affect all children throughout the entire world for some unexplained reason.

That there is a seasonal variation in growth has been noted. Groups of children weighed and measured periodically reveal that maximum development takes place during the late summer and autumn. Growth is at a minimum in the spring and early summer.

Dr. A. B. Pitt advances the theory that seasonal variations in growth are a carry-over from man's pre-historic days.

In the days before man overcame the rigors of winter by the means of well adapted shelter, warm clothing and heating and before he learned to provide for the fruitless days of the cold season by storing food, man, like the polar bear, underwent a period of hibernation.

According to Dr. Pitt then, the weight activity in the growing child in autumn corresponds with the life of many hibernating animals which not vigorously and put on weight before sleeping through the winter.

On the same basis Dr. Pitt also accounts for the restlessness characteristic of the young and perhaps of all of us in the spring-time.

Following the hibernating period and with the oncoming of spring he believes there is a rousing which is not merely a mechanical physical process, but a highly emotional one as well, associated with an intense urge in the reproductive instinct, with restlessness and with a high degree of emotional instability.

According to Dr. Pitt therefore man is still a creature of the sun deeply affected by its course all through the seasons.

FRANCE SEEKING A THREE-POWER PACT AT GENEVA

Professes Grave Fears Of Activities In Nazi Germany

Paris, Sept. 18.—(AP)—The desire for a three-power front on disarmament motivated French leaders today as American and British representatives joined them in conversations preliminary to the opening of the arms conference in Geneva next Monday.

French newspapers and legislators have pointed to Nazi demonstrations at the border and what they call the possibility of the early completion of a German air fleet as requiring a firm stand against any loosening of pacts governing armaments.

From the French point of view, the current talks will have three objects:

To compare notes on charges that Germany is re-arming; to discuss a course should Germany refuse to accept a control plan which French opinion considers prerequisite to the acceptance of any disarmament treaty, and to get backing for a French proposal for international arms control before armaments are reduced.

Ambassador Norman H. Davis is representing the United States and Captain Anthony Eden the British Foreign Office. Speaking for France are Premier Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Joseph Paul-Boncour.

Reports that the United States will support the control scheme and a change in the British attitude since a demand was made to stop a "propaganda bombardment of Austria" have heartened official France.

But the feeling is general in France that the disarmament conference will enter a crucial period this fall because of the fear of Nazi Germany.

MONDAY IS LAST DAY FOR WHEAT GROWER TO SIGN

Final Meeting Being Held This Week In Various Places

By C. E. YALE
Lee Co. Farm Advisor
A last chance for wheat growers to get in on the government's wheat plan before the organization of the Lee County Wheat Production Control Association will be offered farmers of Lee County this week in a final group of sign-up days it was announced by Farm Adviser Yale.

A total of one hundred and five Lee County farmers have signed applications in the series of sign-up stations which Farm Adviser Yale and the extension service of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois have just held over the county, but it was felt that the wheat growers who have not yet come in should be given another chance before Sept. 25th which is the last day that applications can be secured.

Final sign-up meeting will be held as follows:
Farmers Elevator, Harmon, Wednesday, Sept. 20th.

Court House, Dixon, Thursday, Sept. 21st.

Farm Bureau Office, Amboy, Friday, Sept. 22nd.

We will also be in the Farm Bureau office on Saturday the 23rd and Monday the 25th to assist those in the east part of the county. All meeting will start at 8:30 A. M. and run until 6:00 P. M.

Monday, the 25th is the last day possible to sign up.

The holding of these final sign up meetings should serve as a reminder of Secretary Wallace's statement in which he pointed out that the responsibility for the success of the wheat adjustment program in Lee county lies in this county and not in Washington, Farm Adviser said.

It is also pointed out that these final sign-up meetings are for the signing of applications and not for contract for acreage reduction. All that farmers are doing now is filling out applications for taking part in the wheat adjustment program. To this end each wheat grower gives his acreage and production of wheat for 1930, 1931 and 1932.

After all applications are completed and passed upon by the community and County Committees, those signing contracts and receive the benefits from so doing. These benefits are the protection against low wheat prices. On the 1933 crop the government will pay each member signing up from twenty-five to twenty-eight cents per bushel on his allotment. THOSE NOT SIGNING UP RECEIVE NO PROTECTION AGAINST LOW PRICES OR DO THEY RECEIVE ANY CASH BENEFITS. Cash payments of twenty cents per bushel will be made this fall and the balance in the Spring.

Every wheat grower in Lee county should join in this, his own program, remember "we do our part," also that Sept. 25th is the last day.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY
New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes, in bushels: Wheat increased 1,813,000; corn increased 703,000; oats increased 806,000; rye increased 232,000; barley increased 222,000.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief With Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can get rid of common constipation by simply eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Serious cases, with every meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

BELOW AVERAGE CROPS RESULT OF '33 DROUGHT

Joint Report Of Federal And State Ag. Departments Out

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—The 1933 drought has placed the prospective production of every field crop in Illinois below average, the September 1 crop survey of the Illinois and federal departments of agriculture revealed today.

Dry weather and chinch bug damage are still handicapping the corn, which faces the added hazard of frost with prospects the lowest in 46 years, said A. J. Surratt, senior agricultural statistician.

Corn production was the lowest in more than half a century, Surratt reported. "While winter wheat was the best of the grain crops, the production was still below average as a result of the small acreage. The spring wheat crop was very light."

Soybean production will be about one half that of last year. Tame hay is below average. Potato production is the lowest in the history of the state.

The entire crop will be light. In the Union and Johnson county area peaches made a light crop, but elsewhere in the commercial sections production was near average.

"In the western and northwestern sections and in the lower south portion the condition of corn and pastures was improved by August rains, but in the remainder of the state all crops showed further deterioration as a result of the third consecutive month of drought conditions. Chinch bugs in this area are the worst in years and in many localities have already caused heavy damage to the corn crop. In this drought section plowing conditions for winter wheat have been very difficult."

The survey, based on September 1 conditions, placed at 222,778,000 bushels the prospective yield of Illinois.

Crop	Sept. 1 prospects	1932 production	Indicated yield	1932 Average yield
Winter wheat	24,592,000	21,750,000	16.0	15.0
Oats	74,906,000	161,512,000	18.5	37.5
Spring wheat	796,000	1,683,000	13.5	17.0
Barley	4,725,000	10,574,000	15.0	28.5
Tame hay (tons)	2,864,000	3,088,000	1.15	1.15
Potatoes	1,431,000	4,860,000	27.0	90.0
Apples	2,688,000	2,300,000
Peaches	1,566,000	188,000
Pears	338,000	71,000
Soybeans			12.0	20.0

Pastures show a condition of 45 per cent as against 73 a year ago and an average of 75, Surratt announced.

COST OF STORING CORN

By Edward Cornils

D. H. S. Chapter of F. F. A.

The items of cost and of profit in storing corn, outside of the chances for change in the corn price level, include interest on the money tied up in the corn, interest and depreciation charges on cribs used, insurance against loss from fire and storms, shrinkage and change in grade. The last two items are by far the most important.

Since corn may contain anywhere from 18 to 30 per cent or more of moisture when cribbed, depending on the maturity of the crop and on weather conditions, it is inadvisable to figure shrinkage on the basis of averages. Well-matured ear corn, gathered late in the season, may be expected to shrink about 13 per cent from the time it is cribbed until the following summer. Corn which is not so well matured and hence contains more moisture, but is still good enough to keep well under proper storage conditions, may be expected to shrink as much as 20 to 21 per cent during the same period. Corn which is very "soft" or immature will of course shrink even more.

The problem of shrinkage when corn is sold on a shelled basis is entirely different from that when it is sold on the ear. The cobs shrink more in weight than the kernels, so that the proportion of loss of weight is less for the kernels than for the entire ear. Therefore, if only the weight of the shelled grain enters into the sale, the larger proportional item of shrinkage is eliminated. For this reason, when corn is sold on a shelled basis, the shrinkage to be allowed for is reduced to between two-thirds and three-fourths as much as for ear corn.

Because the moisture content of ear corn is lowered in storage, the grade will usually be raised. This constitutes a factor of profit in that the discount on the lower grade is avoided. The additional return is often enough to offset nearly all or even all of the costs of storage.

It must be remembered, however,

Illinois corn, compared with 387,043,000 last year. The yield per acre was indicated at 27.5 bushels compared with 43 last year and an average of 35.

"Corn prospects in western and northwestern sections were improved by August rains," the survey said. "Elsewhere in the state drought conditions for three consecutive months have prevailed and the crop has either barely maintained prospects or actually been reduced."

Chinch bugs infest this entire section. In many localities throughout this area they are so concentrated that the corn is being killed outright. In other sections chaffy corn will be a result of the damage.

"In the dairy regions around Chicago and St. Louis farmers are putting the corn crop in the silo in order to stop further damage from the drought and chinch bugs. Since the crop is three weeks late the frost hazard is a serious one."

"The tame hay outlook shows little change since last month. Clover and timothy which make up over half of the tame hay acreage were below average. Dry weather has served to lower alfalfa yields. Soybean and cowpea hay prospects show some improvement. Seed yield from second crop clover have been light."

"Indications are that the production of soybean seed will be about half that of last year. Soybean conditions improved during the month but with the frost stands and the possibility of frost damage the yield will likely be the lowest in several years. Prospects are uniformly good in the western section but are spotted elsewhere. Cowpea production is below average due to the late sowing."

"Broomcorn prospects are the poorest on record. There are many thin stands and owing to the large amount of late corn some injury by frost is probable. "Indications are that the potato crop will be the smallest on record. Yields of both early and late planted potatoes are very light. The September 1 prospect, production and acreage yield of other crops, compared with last year and the average yield, was:

Bankers Prepare Farm Finance Book

Tells Bankers and Farmers What to Consider in Making Sound Loans

A book on "Making Farm Investments Safe" has been prepared by the Agricultural Commission of the American Bankers Association, summarizing material published by it during the past ten years. It presents a compendium of scientific facts, practice and experience in farming, with timely and helpful suggestions to serve as a reference and guide in the daily routine of banking and farming. From it practical workers in these fields can obtain an idea as to what extent and in what manner farm loans should be limited by soil erosion, weeds, plant diseases, rodents and fire hazards.

The book also indicates how much is added to the security of a farm loan by the farmer who keeps accounts and practices good business methods, as well as the extent to which loans are safeguarded by crop rotation, production of legumes, judicious use of commercial fertilizers, the use of quality seed and the providing of home grown feeds.

Another section sets forth the precautions that should be exercised by both the banker and farmer when negotiating loans to increase or improve dairy production or beef, sheep, swine or poultry production.

hopper should be closed for part of the day or a wet mash fed once each day. This is the only particular feature of the feeding plan that needs watching. Keep the hoppers reasonably well filled with fresh feed and the birds will do the rest.

This is a feeding program that is worthy of a lot of consideration and some poultrymen will do well to try it this fall.

Ogle Co. Farm Bureau Affairs

The idea that farmers must unite their efforts through organization to accomplish the solution of present problems, is the thought upon which the Farm Bureau is conducting many of its important activities, according to Ralph R. Thomas of Mt. Morris.

Vice President of the Ogle County Farm Bureau, who with other leaders attended a meeting in Chicago last week on the subject of live stock marketing. Other men who attended were Claude Holmes of Lindenwood; Martin Nally of Byron, members of the Farm Bureau Executive Board; R. G. Coppenhaver, Polo; John F. Dummer, Davis Junction and Ray McCracken, of Oregon, members of the County Live Stock Marketing Committee and Wm. F. Schreiber, Leaf River and E. L. Tins, Davis Junction. Farm Bureau leaders also interested in cooperative marketing.

Those in attendance from 21 counties passed resolutions which expressed the attitude of the Farm Bureau organization that they are heartily in sympathy with the principles of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration and know the need of cooperative effort in reducing the supplies of certain farm products, will use their influence to secure, as far as possible, the cooperation of individual farmers in the counties represented.

Meetings will be held in Ogle county by the committee named in order to give information to more farmers regarding the possibilities and the need of cooperation in the marketing of livestock and in carrying out the Adjustment program.

Wheat Applications
Having received word from the Secretary of Agriculture that September 25 is the last day that any wheat adjustment applications may be received, Farm Adviser D. E. Warren announced that all applications in Ogle County must be made before that date and that no applications can be taken after September 25. Mr. Warren announced that he will be in his office Monday, Sept. 25, to receive any applications that could not be brought in on Sept. 20, the final date previously announced.

People Eating More Poultry
As a matter of interest, I might say that people who keep us informed about market conditions in the East tell us there is some evidence that people are buying more poultry to eat. They seem to think it is a result of the NRA.

The purpose of the NRA is to provide a better market for the farmer by putting more people to work so they will have money with which to buy the things you produce.

Any indication, however small, that the plan is bringing results is encouraging.

LAND BANK NOW IS CATCHING UP ON APPRAISALS

Illinois Submitting Average Of 101 Applications Daily

Wood Netherland, President of the Federal Land Bank of St. Louis and General Agent for the Farm Credit Administration in this District, has just advised L. S. Griffith of Amboy and O. L. Gehant of West Brooklyn, local correspondents, that during the last half of August 1933 a total of 101 applications for loans through the Federal Farm Loan System. The majority of these appraisals were for Farm Loan Commission loans.

This work has been done by an increased number of Federal Land Bank appraisers now totaling 160 at work, with a number of additional appraisers being trained for work, if needed. This is in contrast to about 18 appraisers who handled the work before May, 1933.

If the Federal Land Bank keeps in step with its volume of business appraisals must be made as rapidly as loans are received. During the last half of August Illinois applications for loans averaged 101 per day. A number of these were rejected at the Land Bank because they were obviously impossible, but on the average 83 out of the 101 per day were retained for appraisal.

During the past three months, Mr. Netherland states, the appraisal division has not been able to handle the volume of applications which the Land Bank has been receiving. Consequently a considerable number of applications were piled up awaiting appraisal. With the present force, however, the appraisal department will not keep a pace but will in time be able to clear away the applications accumulated during the last few months.

Farmers are requested to make applications for Federal Land Bank or Commissioner loans, or both, without delay and may be assured that reasonably prompt service will be rendered. Farmers who are interested should talk with local representatives at once and some solution of their farm mortgage indebtedness may be worked out.

The first cablegram was sent from London to New York on Aug. 28, 1857.

SHARKEY ABOUT OUT OF PICTURE AS TITLE THREAT

Levinisky Disposed Of Ex-Gob Decisively Monday Evening

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—King Levinisky, Chicago west side battler, today had his eye on Primo Carnera's world heavyweight boxing title following his defeat of Jack Sharkey former champion, in a rough and tumble battle at Comiskey Park, home of the Chicago White Sox.

Matchmaker Nate Lewis of the Chicago Stadium, much impressed by Levinisky's showing against Sharkey last night, said he would open negotiations with the Carnera management at once. The bout, if arranged, will take place in the Chicago Stadium this fall. Carnera has met and defeated Levinisky twice.

The defeat virtually eliminated the ex-gob as a heavyweight threat, although he has another bout booked with Tommy Loughran at Philadelphia on Sept. 27. However, his share of the receipts in both fights is $25,000.

Sharkey entered the ring a favorite, but the money of his backers went glimmering in the first round. Levinisky rocked Jack with a hard right and followed with another that floored the ex-champion for a seven count. Later in his dressing room Sharkey admitted that he never recovered from the first blow. King had Sharkey staggering in the second round when he again scored with right.

Was Near Knockout
When the bell ended the third round the Boston fighter was so dazed from the constant hammering of Levinisky's fists that he walked to a neutral corner and had to be helped to his seat.

Sharkey was unable to use any boxing science against the bullike charging Levinisky, and hit low in the fifth round. The seventh was the only round that Jack won. He appeared to have recovered somewhat and peppered the King's head with his left and short hooks to the body. King came near scoring a knockout in the next round with his wild swings and won the last two by wide margins.

Sharkey weighed 201 and Levinisky scaled 4-1-2 pounds more. Promoter Sammy Wolff announced the show was a financial success. The attendance was 20,317 and the gross receipts $52,996.40. Sharkey received $25,000 and Levinisky about $8,600.

The Rockets had only one hit up to the seventh inning when a walk and a double tied the count. The Loafers came back in their half of the seventh when W. ## OTHER COACHES DOUBT SALT IN KIPKE'S TEARS

Skeptical Wailing At Michigan Is Really Genuine

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Michigan is shedding tears over the loss of Harry Newman, but the rest of the Big Ten thinks they are of the crocodile variety.

"Newman? Yes, he was good, but wait till you get a peek at a fellow named Bill Renner!" is the way rival coaches put it. "He'll make Michigan forget all about Newman."

Press releases from Ann Arbor indicate that Michigan is well fortified in all positions except that left vacant by Newman. The All-American quarterback who was chiefly responsible for the Wolverines Big Ten championship last year. However, Coach Harry Kipke has plenty of material, 10 candidates for the job but can't make up his mind as to which one is most capable of filling Newman's shoes. Capt. Stan Fay, Louis Westover and Estill Tessmer are regarded as the most promising contenders, with Renner listed among the best of the untried players.

Of course, the other coaches opinion of Renner may be a trifle far fetched, but they insist he is Kipke's ace in the hole and that Kipke is ready to spring a "second Newman" on them when the season starts.

Renner Can Pass
Little has been written about Renner. He hails from Youngstown, O., weighs 165 pounds and has had two years experience. The most important fact is that he can pass.

Training activities were speeded up at all points in the conference yesterday. Northwestern engaged in its first scrimmage and many of the sophomores with which Dick Hanley hopes to fill out his team looked good.

Coach Hayes of Indiana, after sending his squad through a lively workout, drilled the plays on passing formations. Indiana has a tough conference schedule this year meeting Minnesota, Northwestern, Ohio State, Chicago and Purdue.

Three full Ohio State teams went through their first scrimmage yesterday under the scrutinizing eye of Coach Sam Williamson. The best play of the day was a 30-yard dash across the goal line by Jack Smith. In the backfield William used Cramer, Kreese and Watzel most consistently.

SENATORS AND GIANTS CLOSER TO THEIR GOALS

Each Made Progress Even Though Beaten In Monday's Games

By HERBERT W. BARKER (Associated Press Sports Writer.)

Baseball prosperity, represented by the National and American League pennants, was just around the corner today for the New York Giants and Washington Senators, rivals in a dramatic world series nine years ago.

All the Giants needed to clinch the National League flag for the first time since 1924 was one victory for themselves or a defeat for their only rival, Pittsburgh. Washington seeking the American League flag for the first time since its two-year reign in 1924-1925, was half as well off. The Senators needed two victories, two New York Yankee defeats or a combination of one triumph and one Yankee reverse.

It was possible neither flag would be clinched today but the Giants slated to play their final game at St. Louis while the Pirates tangled with the Phillies in a double-header, expected to end the National League race by tonightfall.

Fitz Near Injury

They let just such an opportunity slip through their fingers yesterday but the 4-3 decision they dropped to the St. Louis Cardinals worried them less than the narrow escape "Fat Fred" Fitzsimmons had from serious injury.

The veteran right hander held a 2-1 lead with two men out in the second inning when a line drive from Bob O'Farrell's bat down in the dirt and lay gasping cracked him in the neck. Fitz went down as his mates rushed to his aid. Soon he staggered to his feet and was led to the club house where an examination revealed he had suffered no serious hurt.

Herman Bell then took up the pitching burden and the Giants gave him a two run lead in the fourth on Charley Dressen's double, a sacrifice and Blondy Ryan's single.

Hubbell Was Beaten
Herman couldn't stand prosperity and retired in some disorder in the fifth after O'Farrell and Pepper Martin had singled. That brought Carl Hubbell to the box and for once the slender southpaw was not equal to the occasion. George Watkins' double drove O-

Farrell across the plate and in the next inning O'Farrell's third consecutive single, a walk and another safety by Martin tied the score. The Cardinals then won the game in the eighth on Leo Durocher's triple and a single by Tex Carleton who gave the Giants only two hits in the last five innings.

Despite the defeat, the Giants moved closer to the pennant for Pittsburgh got no better than an even break in a twin bill with the Phils. Paul Waner's homer in the eighth gave the Corsairs the first game, 2-1, but Ed Holley came back with a four hit shutout in the nightcap and the Phillies won, 5-0. The Boston Braves pounded out 15 hits to wallopp the Cincinnati Reds 8-2 while Brooklyn beat the Chicago Cubs, 6-4.

Following the Giants' lead, the Senators also picked up ground, although beaten. They bowed to the St. Louis Browns, 4-2 but moved one game closer to the flag when the Yankees split a double-header with the Chicago White Sox.

Gray Beat Senators

Sam Gray, who some weeks ago confessed to a sore arm and thus nullified a transaction by which he was to wear a Washington uniform and thus would have been eligible for a slice of world series money, held the Senators well in hand all the way although touched for ten hits. Bob Burke pitched well for seven innings but a double by Bruce Campbell, a walk to Oscar Melillo and a triple by Ted Gullie gave the Browns two runs and the game in the eighth.

Johnny Allen held the White Sox to two hits as the Yankees won the first game 6-1, but the pale hose came back to take the nightcap, 4-3, behind the steady pitching of the Dallas recruit, Leslie Tietje. Lou Gehrig hit a homer in each game to bring his season's total to 29.

Oral Hildebrand also pitched two-hit ball as Cleveland blanked the Boston Red Sox, 9-0. Homers by Cramer, Johnson and Higgins helped the Philadelphia Athletics nose out Detroit, 9-8.

EQUITABLE COMPENSATION HOPE OF LEGIONNAIRES

Action To Curb Communism Will Also Be Taken Up

Chicago, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Loud demands for equitable disability compensation and for action to curb the spread of Communism have been drafted for almost certain adoption by the American Legion's 1933 convention.

Four-point program covering compensation and hospitalization for disabled veterans of all wars already has been adopted by half of the Legion's state departments. Leaders among the ex-service men's organization consider its adoption a foregone conclusion in the national convention October 2-5, when a quarter million Legionnaires are expected to gather in the World's Fair city.

So favorable has been the reaction to the program that its author, E. J. Hayes of Decatur, Ill., has come to be considered practically assured of election as National Commander.

One of the provisions of the four-point program calls for restoration of the 25 per cent reduction in compensation payments made in the economy drive of last March.

Other provisions include: It also provides that compensation to a veteran may be lowered only on proof of improvement in his condition, that a service-incurred disability rating may be removed only upon proof of fraud, that any war veteran is entitled to free government hospitalization if he is unable to pay, and that payments to widows and orphans of dependents can not be lowered.

"Thousands of veterans and their dependents have been reduced to suffering because of unwarranted reductions in compensation, and in some cases entire withdrawal of the payments," Hayes said in making public the plans.

"Veterans in urgent need have had as many as half a dozen conflicting rulings on whether their disabilities were service incurred. We must arrive at an equitable system of compensation."

Demands for immediate payment of the bonus—a point of dissent in the last two years—may be brought to the floor of the convention, but only by a majority group, convention leaders said.

Commandments For Sportsmen Will Save Game

Washington, D. C.—Cometh now the Ten Commandments for the Sportsmen, issued on the eve of the hunting season, nine by the Advisory Board to the U. S. Migratory Bird Treaty Act and the tenth by the American Game Association, for the protection of all game, particularly wildfowl which have recently suffered depletion through the drought and other causes obtaining the last three years.

The Commandments for Sportsmen are not graven on stone nor brought down from the mountains on high, but pecked out with a hunt-and-punch system on a rickety typewriter; nevertheless, officials point out, the observance of these Ten Commandments for Sportsmen are just as vital to preserving the welfare of game as Moses' Ten Commandments are to preserving the welfare of the human soul.

In fact, officials point out, the Ten Commandments for Sportsmen may be more vital in preserving wildlife, especially ducks; for many species are reaching stages of depletion that threaten extinction.

"The Advisory Board is of the opinion that the present plight of our waterfowl is in part due to disregard for high standards of sportsmanship in waterfowl hunting, and it believes that substantial benefits will accrue, if unsportsmanlike practices and abuses are eliminated or reduced to a minimum," a resolution adopted recently by the Board states.

Commandments For Sportsmen

1. Take your birds in a sportsmanlike way and avoid excesses.
2. Select your birds and refrain from destructive flock shooting.
3. Refrain from shooting at birds beyond reasonable killing range.
4. Never shoot at birds on the water unless badly crippled.
5. Retrieve your down birds and avoid all possible waste.
6. Do not patronize commercial shooting stands where abuses are practiced.
7. If you feed birds during the season, continue it as long as feed is beneficial.
8. Do your part to restore breeding grounds and maintain refuges.
9. Be a Sportsman—obey the law and insist that others do likewise.

10. Swat the 'crow and other predators that prey upon game.

Miller Leads Oak Ridgers To Victory

The Oak Ridge baseball team defeated Ashton Sunday afternoon by a score of 6 to 4 behind the pitching of "Smokey Joe" Miller. It was the Ridger's fifteenth win of the season. Ashton did not score an earned run off Miller's delivery and the Ridger's scored but two, the rest being accounted for on errors. E. McGrath piled up a total of three hits to lead the Ridger team. Next Sunday the Ridger team will go to Franklin Grove and will be strengthened with the return of "Shires" Miller and "Paddy" McDonald to the lineup.

NAVY OFFICIALS TO OPPOSE ANY CUT IN PROGRAM

Will Not Consent To Program Suggested By Great Britain

Washington, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Confident assertions that the United States will maintain intact its $238,000,000 naval building program were heard in naval circles today in reply to reports that Great Britain has suggested abandonment of the plan.

Seeking to reconcile known British views on naval construction with a State Department denial that abandonment of the entire 32-year program had been proposed, naval experts agreed that any British suggestion almost certainly would deal with vessels in the 10,000-ton cruiser category.

Informed officials said that judging by past expressions, if Great Britain had sponsored any message on alteration of the naval building plan, it probably centered on the four 10,000 ton cruisers included. England repeatedly has urged a limitation around the 7,000 ton figure for vessels of this class.

But so positive was the Navy of completing the building program made it possible by public works funds, that it planned to ask Congress for a 50 per cent increase in its fighting air strength, or a boost in numbers from 1,000 to 1,500 serviceable airplanes to help equip the additional ships.

Chairman Vinson of the House Naval committee already has been informed by Rear Admiral Ernest J. King, Chief of Naval Operations, that the request will be made next session. King explained more planes are necessary because "our ship building program has gotten so far ahead of our plane strength."

It is your duty to carry Accident Insurance. If you use an automobile you can protect your family to the amount of $1,000 for 1 year for $1.25.

Their Problem: A Coal Code

Confronted by the threat of a widespread strike of soft coal miners, John L. Lewis (left), president of the United Mine Workers of America, and General Hugh S. Johnson, NRA administrator, conferred as shown here in Washington. Five hundred operators convened at the capital in an effort to reach an agreement on the long delayed bituminous coal code.

DETROIT BANKS SOLVENT WHEN CLOSED BY GOV'T.

Judge Completes His Investigation Of Two Big Banks

Detroit, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Efforts to reorganize Detroit's two closed national banks were being made today following a grand jury report which said the banks were solvent when closed and no evidence had been found of criminality on the part of officers.

Judge Harry B. Keldan, who as a one-man grand jury conducted a three month investigation into the causes for closing the two banks, unexpectedly terminated his inquiry last night and made public his findings. He cited no specific reason for the closing of the city's principal financial institutions, declaring his belief that they were solvent on the last day they operated, and asserting that there was no evidence of criminality on the part of their officers and directors.

Federal Aid Needed
He urged the federal government to "undertake to help the depositors of these closed institutions and the city of Detroit," adding that "criminations and recriminations are futile. Only the actual aid of the government will suffice to remedy the evil conditions which exist."

That was the keynote today of renewed efforts by financial leaders toward reorganization, or otherwise winding up affairs of the First National Bank-Detroit and the Guardian National Bank of Commerce in such a way as to bring maximum returns to the 800,000 depositors. The depositors thus far have received 40 per cent of their accounts, with approximately $312,000,000 still tied up in the closed institutions.

REPEALISTS IN IDAHO AND NEW MEX. CONFIDENT

Predict They Will Be In Repeal Column Before Night

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
New Mexico and Idaho were laying their say about prohibition today—the former lackadaisically, the latter with a wider display of interest.

Clear skies, beckoning the rural vote to the polls, encouraged the drys in Idaho, home state of that long-time friend of prohibition, Senator Borah. Allied drys predicted a vote of more than 100,000 with "well over 50,000" opposing repeal. William Hendon, a repealist, said, "The repeal vote is bound to be a landslide, envisioned a 15,000 repeal majority out of a total vote of 75,000."

In New Mexico, foes of prohibition predicted at least a 2 to 1 majority for repeal. The voters, however, displayed much more interest in another matter on the ballot—the question of limiting property tax levies.

These two states, the only ones to vote on repeal this week, are the 30th and 31st to ballot on the question. The other 29 all have approved wiping the 18th Amendment from the Constitution.

Repealists hope for final success by Nov. 7, when at least 39 states will have made their decision. Drys are striving to hold their lines. Approval of 36 states is necessary to amend the Constitution.

TAMMANY TIGER CONFIDENT TODAY FACING CYCLONE

Opponents Of Wigwam Predict Defeat In Today's Primary

New York, Sept. 19.—(AP)—The Tammany wigwam, a bit teetery from the biting gales of Seabury investigations, stood today in the path of what one of its foes predicted would be a cyclone that would blow it over.

The "cyclone" which Congressman Loring M. Black has prophesied must strike—if it strikes—in the six-hour period between 3 and 9 P. M. It is during these hours that today's primary election voting takes place.

The contest for the Democratic nomination for mayor is the focal point of vote interest. New York's 60-year-old mayor, John P. O'Brien, backed by Tammany, is challenged by Congressman Black and Assemblyman Jerome G. Ambro.

All three voiced confidence of nomination. Tammany leaders said Mayor O'Brien would walk away with the nomination by a two-to-one vote.

Not So Ambitious
Ambro, not so ambitious in his predictions, thought he would win by a 10,000 vote plurality.

Black said:
"The weather man has predicted fair weather. If he is right, it will mean a bigger turn out of voters, and that will mean a cyclone will strike the Tammany tent. The brighter the day, the blacker for O'Brien."

The Republicans, who are outnumbered three-to-one in the registered voting strength of the city, had no contests. F. H. LaGuardia, former Congressman, was unopposed for the mayoral nomination. He is the choice of the anti-Tammany fusionists and will contest in the November 7 election with the support of both Republicans and such Democrats as may decide to break from the regular party organization.

Voting also took place today in many upstate cities.

First Fatality Of Football Season

Pittsburgh, Sept. 19.—(AP)—Robert Forde, 19-year-old sandlot football player is the first gridiron fatality of the season in the Pittsburgh district.

The coroner's office reported the youth died in a hospital from shock that developed from a fractured vertebra. He was injured in a scrimmage pileup.

Vitamins in Food

Recognized vitamins in food include the following: Vitamin A, found in milk, butter, fresh cheese, eggs, green vegetables (such as spinach, watercress and turnip greens), yellow vegetables (especially carrots and yellow corn); vitamin B, found in germs of wheat and other cereals, liver, yeast, lettuce and raw peanuts; vitamin C, in lemons, oranges, grapefruit, raw cabbage, sauerkraut, sprouted grain or peas, tomatoes, lettuce, watercress, spinach, turnips and green peppers; vitamin D, in liver and cod liver oil, egg yolk, snails, sunshine; vitamin E, German oil of wheat or other grains and many vegetable oils, fresh meat and animal fat, fresh lettuce; vitamin F, same as vitamin B; vitamin G (also called B2), in fresh or evaporated milk, liver, green vegetables (even if canned), bananas and yeast.

DIVERSION OF GASOLINE TAX TO BE FOUGHT

Illinois Highway Contractors Reported Ready To Fight

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Renewing his campaign to cut the cost of state and local government and give relief to taxpayers, James T. Burns, Democratic Representative from Kankakee, today asked that economy be included in the call for the October special legislative session.

"It is peculiarly a subject for a special session," Burns states, declaring that the General Assembly should "reduce the cost of government in the city, township, county and state by abolishing useless offices, bureaus, commissions and departments and by reducing such salaries as are fixed by state law to level of those in indecent partial success in cutting official salaries at the regular session this year, wrote to Governor Horner that tax relief and unemployment relief are of equal importance.

Plans Not Revealed
With October 3 definitely set as the date for the first special session, the Governor has given no indication that his call will include anything other than financing the care of the destitute jobless, for which the administration will sponsor a $30,000,000 state bond issue to be retired by counties from gas tax money.

Expectations are that a later session will take up liquor control and some other pressing problems.

The Kankakee Democrat, chairman of the House committee on Economy, recommended legislation to reduce public salaries on a graduated scale, ranging from five per cent on those of $150 monthly to twenty per cent for salaries of $1,250.

Sees Permanent Dole
The fear that continued unemployment relief would result in a permanent "dole" in Illinois was expressed in a statement by Senator James O. Monroe, Collinsville Democrat.

Monroe declared that responsibility for relief should be shifted to counties and municipalities, raising the objection that Cook county is depending upon Federal grants and downstate taxes to care for its unemployed.

Expectations are that the legality of relief bond issues will be attacked in court by organized highway contractors, who are reported to be ready to file suit here against the $200,000 issue adopted in 1932. This would jeopardize the $30,000,000 bonds proposed by the administration as an emergency measure.

The point under controversy would be the use of gasoline tax funds to retire relief bonds. Contractors contend that the funds should be used only for the construction and improvement of highways.

One of the 1932 relief laws was ruled unconstitutional this year on a diversion suit brought by the Illinois Construction Council.

FARMERS UNITE IN PLANNING A WIDE CAMPAIGN

Three-Fold Program Adopted By State Farm Bureaus

Decatur, Ill., Sept. 19.—(AP)—Farmers of this state as represented in the membership of county Farm Bureaus stood pledged today to a program to speed up the raising of agricultural product prices, a 50 per cent reduction in property taxes, and a more aggressive and practical administration of the farm credit act.

The three-fold program, to be launched in a campaign October 1, was voted yesterday at a meeting of more than 2,000 county Farm Bureau members and officers and directors of the Illinois Agriculture Association here.

In addition the meeting also adopted several resolutions, one of which opposed further diversion of gasoline tax funds from the highway department. The other urged the Agriculture Association to seek a special session of the State Assembly for the purpose of amending the revenue article of the state constitution to be voted on in 1934.

The proposed amendment would remove restrictions preventing a broadening of the base of taxation and the establishment of an equitable system of taxation, and would relieve both rural and urban taxable property of at least one-half of its present tax burden.

"The time has come," said Earl C. Smith, president of the Agriculture Association, "when downstate people must rise and say to Chicago, 'there's a line beyond which you shall not pass.'"

This is real HEALO weather. Ask your druggist for a box of this wonderful foot powder. 19126*

For the LOVE of EVE

by Lucy Walling

BEGIN HERE TODAY

EVE HAYLES, pretty assistant to EARLE BARNES, advertising manager of Bibby's department store, married DICK RADEN, a construction superintendent. Dick is sent to take charge of a construction job in the Adirondicks. It will require at least a year to complete but Eve refuses to give up her work and go with him.

MONA ALLEN, copy writer, dislikes Eve and is constantly causing trouble for her. She is responsible for several mistakes for which Eve is blamed. Mona is friendly with THERON REECE who continues to force unwelcome attentions on Eve. Unknown to Dick, Eve has been playing the stock market, borrowing money from her mother and sister. When her broker demands $400 to protect her margin Eve takes it from the emergency fund Dick left in the bank. Eve loses this money, as well as all she borrowed and her own savings.

Mona asks her to have dinner with her. Eve, anxious not to offend Mona, agrees.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXVIII

SATURDAY afternoon Arlene received a telephone message from Sam who was coming to take her to dinner at a new seafood grill at 105th street. Since Mona's boarding house was on 100th street Arlene invited Eve and Mona to ride home with her and Sam.

At 6 the four met outside Bibby's. Arlene insisted that Eve should ride with Sam while she shared the rumble seat with Mona. Eve entered into a lively discussion with Sam on the subject of advertising and was impressed by his shrewdness and vision. The ride to 100th street seemed short.

Mona led Eve to her room on the third floor of the green frame dwelling. It was an attractive room with a dormer containing three small windows.

The girls removed their wraps and went down stairs to dinner. Eve glanced about her as she entered the spacious dining room. Evidently a wall had been removed and two rooms thrown into one. Tables seemed to be everywhere with chatting groups about them. Most of the diners were women.

"But leave it to Mona!" thought Eve as she followed the other girl to a small table at which were seated an elderly woman and a young man. The young man flashed Mona a quick smile. She introduced Eve and then explained that Mr. Miller roomed in the neighborhood but came here for his meals. Eve felt an uncomfortable third party as the conversation between the two grew animated. Later, when it was suggested that the three of them should go for a ride in Mr. Miller's car Eve pleaded a headache and asked to be dropped off at her home.

"But the ride will cure your headache!" Miller insisted. "Miss Allen and I often drive after dinner. Come on—the more the merrier, you know!"

EVE went for the ride. With Mona monopolizing the conversation there was little for Eve to do but gaze at the early November landscape as they whirled over the country roads. "I hate strange roads after dark," she said to herself.

And slipped along parallel to the road through the darkness. She thought he must have turned back, for not long afterward an automobile approached slowly and she hid behind the trunk of a tree until it had passed.

Before long the machine returned and after a brief stop at Toby's Tavern slowly went in the opposite direction. Reece, no doubt, was looking for her. Eve decided to walk until she came to a trolley. Each time an automobile approached she hid until it had passed. She met no pedestrians on the lonely road. Her ankles were tired from walking on spiked heels and she felt sick with nervous fear. Still she trudged on for what seemed miles and miles. Eve had no idea how soon she would arrive at the Lake City limits nor what car line she might approach.

FINALLY she came to a farm house bearing a sign "Tourists Welcome." Eve rang the doorbell and when a motherly looking woman with graying hair answered she changed her mind about asking for directions but asked instead if she could stop for the night. She was shown to a spic and span room with pink rag rugs and a Janey Lind bed. Then the farmer's wife turned to her and said, "I'll just send Pa out after your baggage. Did you want to drive your car into the barn for the night?"

When Eve told her she had no car and no baggage but offered to pay her immediately, her hostess looked dubious, went below evidently to consult "Pa." She returned soon, smiling reassuringly. "I'll be all right, miss," she said. "Did you want to come and set with us a while in the living room or did you just want to go to bed?"

Later as Eve sank with relief into the deep feathered she thought, "I suppose 'Pa' is lying awake with a shotgun thinking he's harboring a suspicious character."

The next morning she found she had walked miles in a direction away from Lake City. She hired the farmer to drive her home. When she reached there Mrs. Brooks appeared. "Oh, Mrs. Raden!" she said. "I couldn't help worrying about you. Your telephone was ringing most of the night."

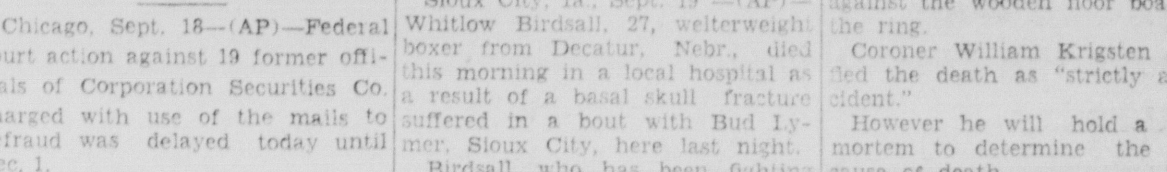

It rang again shortly. Eve answered and heard Theron Reece's voice.

"You little fool!" he said. "Do you think I'd let any harm come to you? Can't you see that I'm mad about you? Why can't we be friends? Your husband isn't above a little flirtation when the occasion offers. Why not give him a taste of his own medicine?"

Abruptly Eve hung up the receiver. She was terrified, terrified at the threat of danger in Reece's persistent attentions and terrified at his insinuations about Dick. Were they true—Reece's hints that Dick had been philandering? How was she to bear it if they were true!

FLYING CIRCUS FOR DIXON POST COMING SUNDAY

Great Aerial Entertainment
Sponsored By
Dixon Legion

A new thrill for a thrill-loving public will be staged during the American Legion-Hunter Flying Circus Sunday afternoon at the Dixon Municipal Airport when Daredevil Earl Woods of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, rides a speeding motorcycle through a solid double wall of flame on the airport grounds. Woods uses a stock machine for this stunt and wears no protection of any kind while performing this hazardous stunt. This is but one of the program of 15 acts to be presented at the circus, which is sponsored by Dixon post, No. 12, American Legion and the Dixon Municipal Airport committee.

Included in the many air events will be several long delayed parachute drops in which the jumpers, Fred Welsh and Ruth Harris, drop several thousand feet out of mile high planes before opening their parachutes. In another interesting event some of the planes will present a bombing demonstration, dropping imitation bombs on a speeding automobile.

In addition the air attractions will include formation flights, exhibitions of stunt flying, including spins, barrel rolling, snap rolling, loops, wing overs, flying a plane on its side and at the same time going straight ahead. This latter stunt is performed close to the ground so that it can be seen very plainly. There will also be dead motor landings, serpentine cutting and balloon bursting contests.

Members of Dixon post, No. 12 will have charge of the parking of cars and in the handling of traffic on the airport grounds. The advance ticket sale is also in charge of the members of the Dixon post. The show will start promptly Sunday afternoon at 2:45 and will be preceded by one hour of formation flights and demonstrations for the entertainment of the early arrivals. All of the Hunter planes and ships coming to Dixon for the air circus will participate in the formation flight over the city preceding the opening of the show.

RIDING THE TIGER
By Dr. Joseph Fort Newton

"A man who rides a tiger dare not dismount," an old Chinese proverb tells us. If he does the tiger will eat him up. Also, he must go where the tiger wants to go, whether he wants to or not.

The other day a gangster told his story. He did not mean to get caught in the coils of the underworld. But once in it, he could not get out—without being "bumped off." He knew too much.

For ten years Hitler has been talking hatred and violence in Germany. Now he'd like to curb it, but cannot do it. If he relaxes his ruthlessness, his followers think he is weakening.

How often it has been true in history! A man rides into power on a tiger, and cannot turn it loose. He has released forces which he can neither resist nor control, and rides to a fall.

To gain a temporary gain at the expense of a permanent injury is folly. Short-sightedness brings terrible retribution. It not only affects itself, it means disaster, as tiger tactics do.

In our own minds we may play with tiger thoughts, but it is very dangerous. An idea toyed with may easily become an obsession, and we are at its mercy—driven by impulses we cannot arrest. A man tells a lie to win an end. Then he has to tell a lot of lies to go with it. Once started, he cannot stop. Lies go in gangs. They must hang together, or be hung separately, one by one.

Or he does a dirty trick and thinks little of it. But before he knows it he is bogged so deep in the mud he cannot get out. We cannot play with the ape and tiger in us and not get hurt.

A great poet learned the bitter truth too late: "He does not win who plays with sin in the secret house of shame." He died in disgrace, and his name is spoken in whispers, if at all.

Such are the perils and pitfalls in the midst of which we live. He is not brave who defies plain facts; he is merely foolish. He who rides a tiger cannot get off and get away with it.

yatt Laid To Rest

Quail Crop Big; Conservation Is Cause, Say Heads

Washington, D. C., Sept. 19—The quail "crop" is reported to be a big one, according to reports reaching the American Game Association. Some states, particularly Kentucky, declare this year's quail crop is the biggest one within the last 16 years. Many causes are advanced for so bountiful a crop, conservation of wildlife ranking among the foremost.

"Apparently the quail population of Kentucky for 1933 will surpass that of any year since the big snow of 1917," a bulletin from the Kentucky Game and Fish Commission states. It lists among the causes for the increase the prohibiting of dogs and cat from running at large during the nesting season; hunters refraining from over-shooting; farmers leaving sufficient cover and food for the birds, and the practice of predator control; the establishment of game refuges; the planting of —are native birds; and more people becoming interested in conservation.

It is of singular interest, game commissioners of other states point out, that in states practicing game management there is a notable increase in game crops, such as pointed out by Kentucky.

Encouraged by the results of game management, Iowa, which has long had complete legal protection of quail, is "about to try a system of quail management by which an annual surplus of this species may be produced on definite areas as a supplementary farm crop, which surplus may be taken by hunting under conditions to be specified," according to announcement by the Iowa Fish and Game Commission.

"Quail protection in many localities, even despite efforts of conscientious and qualified wardens, has been 'paper protection' only; that is, the quail in rather obvious instances have suffered net losses from poaching conceivably in excess of what they might have borne even under the old system of regular open seasons," Iowa game officials point out.

Siddons, Famed British Actress, Born in Wales

Sarah Siddons, famed as the greatest of English tragic actresses, was born in Wales. Her father was Roger Kemble, manager of a theatrical company, and from her childhood Sarah worked on the stage.

She was married to William Siddons, a member of the company, when she was seventeen, and soon afterwards she was recommended to Garrick, resulting in her playing Portia in the "Merchant of Venice," at Drury Lane, her salary being £5 a week. She did not win unqualified success, and was not engaged for the next season. For the next six years she worked in the provinces.

Invited to return to Drury Lane because of the reputation she had now achieved, she played Isabella in "The Fatal Marriage," and won an immediate and permanent success in London, her histrionic ability being considered perfect.

She left the stage in 1812, and lived in retirement for twenty years. A statue of her, by Chantry, is in Westminster abbey.

PILLAR OF SALT

By L. L. R.

A friend, whose judgment in such matters may be trusted, was asked for a list of books which would give the average American a varied literary background. Here is the list he prepared:

Standard novels: "Roughing It"; "Moby Dick"; Modern novels: "Three Soldiers"; 42nd Parallel; "1919"; History: "Rise of American Civilization"; "Ten Days That Shook the World"; Poetry: Study Carl Sandburg, Sherwood Anderson, T. S. Elliott, and D. H. Lawrence. Read Shakespeare's "Venus and Adonis"; "Hamlet"; "King Lear"; and the sonnets. Don't neglect Walt Whitman. By all means, don't miss Bryant's "Thanatopsis," or Shelley's "The Cenci" and "Mask of Anarchy." Addresses: All of Lincoln.

Don't Take My Word For It: John Dixon did not establish the ferry which later bore his name. Peacocks don't lay eggs. Blue and white stars are the hottest. Bacteria are, on the average, 1-25,000th of an inch in diameter. The first tavern in the vicinity of Dixon was built in 1829. The first coal discovery in America was on the Illinois river, in 1879.

So-What Department: They are now breaking records for upside-down flying. It may prove something or other, but I'm inclined to repeat, "So what?"

As young America begins another term of school, the thought comes to the rest of us that all of the textbooks of history and economics in use last year are even now out of date. Their history books of ten years from now will be even more interesting to us, when perspective will enable historians to more accurately analyze the present period in American history.

Not like any other cigarette

The United States Government
granted Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company the right to use "Chesterfield" for cigarettes

THIS means that the Chesterfield formula—that is, the leaf and the manufacturing formula—is different from that of other cigarettes.

For a cigarette to be milder and to taste better, it has to have in it ripe, mild, mellow tobacco, and the right quantity of the right kinds of Turkish tobacco. Then the cigarette has to be made right.

You can prove for yourself that Chesterfields are not like other cigarettes. They're milder... they taste better.
